Writing about the rugged American hero like no one else can, New York Times bestselling author Janet Dailey brings readers the exciting conclusion to her sweeping, action-packed romance trilogy about the charismatic Bannon brothers—now in mass market.

Deke Bannon, federal criminal investigator, risks his life just about every damn day—but that doesn't mean he'll let Kelly Johns do the same. The gorgeous news anchor doesn't care that her life is in peril for knowing too much and trying to find out more. To protect Kelly, Deke will have to keep her close—no matter how hard she fights him.

Good luck with that. Kelly's every instinct tells her she's stumbled across the story of her career. But there's a catch. Without Deke, she can't infiltrate the dark underworld operating beyond the reach of the law. With him, she's in a whole other kind of danger. On the case, Deke Bannon is a force of nature—unpredictable, unstoppable, and always one step ahead of her. Except when he takes her in his arms—and the world stands still for both of them...

PRAISE FOR JANET DAILEY AND BANNON BROTHERS: TRIUMPH

"Dailey ratchets up the tension in her final book in the Bannon Brothers trilogy. Her characters are believable and well motivated, and the relationships among various members of the television station staff crackle with intensity. The media silence about the homicides is difficult to accept at first, but Dailey's skilled storytelling pulls the reader in nonetheless." —RT Book Reviews, 4 Stars

"Triumph is a good crime solving story with just enough twists and turns to keep you turning pages. And candidly will have the armchair investigator playing along and bemoaning their incorrect guesses. Just plain fun – good beach read." —NOR Reviews

"Fans of the prolific Dailey will be pleased." —Booklist

"A good mystery with two hot characters with great chemistry to spice up your summer night." —Parkersburg News & Sentinel

Spring is in the air, but the ladies of the Cumberland Creek Scrapbook Crop hardly have time to stop and smell the roses. Not when famed Irish dancer Emily McGlashen is found murdered in her studio just after the St. Patrick's Day parade—and one of the Crop's own members is the prime suspect. Vera's dance studio may have suffered when Emily waltzed into town, but the croppers know she's not a vengeful murderer. Lucky for her, co-scrapbooker Annie is a freelance reporter eager to vindicate her friend. What she discovers is a puzzling labyrinth of secrets that only add question marks to Emily's murder. Just when it seems they've run out of clues, an antique scrapbook turns up and points the croppers in the right direction—and brings them face to face with a killer more twisted than a Celtic knot.

Micah Bishop doesn't believe in miracles—until a derringer-packing nun busts him out of jail. But it's not Christian charity that's driving Sister Genevieve—she wants Micah to take her to a place called Nun's Bluff, deep in the most lawless and perilous part of New Mexico Territory. It was here where an order of nuns met their Maker, and it's Sister Genevieve's mission to see that they are given a proper funeral. Or so she claims.

Micah's not in the habit of helping nuns, but it turns out the only true vow Genevieve ever took was to get rich—and there's a fortune in gold buried along with the sisters. It was Memorial Day weekend, the start of the summer season. Thousands headed to Ocean City, Maryland to enjoy its scenic beaches, lively boardwalk, and trendy nightclubs. Among the bright-spirited vacationers was a couple with a much darker idea of fun. Erica Sifrit, a former honor student, was packing a gun in her Coach® bag. Her husband, B.J., an ex-Navy SEAL, was trained in violence. What started as a chance encounter with another couple ended with two dismembered victims buried in a Delaware landfill. M. William Phelps updates this modern-day "Bonnie and Clyde" saga to create a haunting account of money, madness, sex, and murder.
